REPORT OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS

Expenditures and Receipts For the County in the Past Year With Statement of Indebtedness.

After two days work the county suditors have completed their work on the report of the county commission-ers concerning the finances and find it correct. The auditors are Albert H. Lanphere and James H. Hyde.

The report, which is for the year ending September 20, shows that the total receipts were $48,917.98, of which $9,682.88 was received from the state for the board of prisoners at the jails, and $9,937.68 from the state for the board of prisoners, the entire jail receipts being $13,975.62. The state also pail $500 for the care of the Niantic draw-bridge, and towns paid $200 for the county home.

The total expenditures amounted to $3,489.40, there being a balance in the treasury of $8,528.58. The jail expenses amounted to 13,999.96, which included 5,900.92 for provisions $1,440 for salaries of jailers, $1,311.64 for salaries of assistants, $1,603.79 for repairs and buildings, $1,079.30 for fuel. The barn expense was $442.64. clothing $373.88, cane $397.91.

Dr. E. H. Knowles, of North Stonington.

Mrs. Knowles said that he knew and told her that he had Bright's disease. He had suffered poor health two years before his death. He desired to go to Providence for treatment, and they went there. After they returned home he was much worse and he did not have a rational minute. He told her he had neglected her, but asked her not to put him in an asylum. He was violent and delirious. She asked him if he wanted to see Mr. Peabody of Westerly and she sent for him when he said he did. He was 60 years of age. He had talked with her about a will and said he wanted Mr. Peabody to drew it and told her how he wanted everything to go.

He died Moy 30, 1910, leaving an estate of $27,000. The sum of $10,000 is left in trust to his son and the residue after other gifts is left in prust to the wife. After their death the money goes o the heirs. It is claimed he was of unsound mind and ill when the will was written and was unduly influenced by J. K Pendleton of the Industrial Trust company, which is made the trustee.

by breaking a window in one of the recems that opens on the perch. The bits of broken glass on the perch attracted her attention when she arrived at the house and started Mrs. Doolittle investigating.

She found they could raise the window after breaking the glass, and they had, no doubt, gone in that way, and crime out the same way, as the front door was padiocked fast. They rumnaged around pretty generally through the house, throwing the things into the middle of the floor. They left two the house, throwing the things into the middle of the floor. They left two windows open in the sleeping room upstairs. They emptied things out of the sideboard in the dining room and also out of the writing dask, tossing them all on to the floor and leaving them all on to the floor and leaving them there. An overcoat and some trousers belonging to Bank Examiner Norris S. Liepitt, who is her son-inlaw, were not carried off.

From New London Thursday night, it was learned that the cottage of George C. Preston of this city, which adjoins the Doolittle cottage, had also been entered.
